Mr Howard wanted to talk about childcare at Monday's news conference but all the questions focused on the row over his treatment of Mr Flight.

He refused to say what would happen if Mr Flight's local association stuck by its MP.

But he said: "It is not about the ability of people to express a different view from my view or a different view from the leadership of the Conservative Party.

"It is about the suggestion that the Conservative Party is saying one thing before an election and intends to do something else afterwards. That is not the case."

Who decides?

But Mr Howard accused Labour of negative campaigning and said Tony Blair would "say anything and do anything to cling to power".
“When there is suddenly a breaking news story you find that the top half-dozen stories are all pretty much the same, because they are all relying on the same bit of agency copy. Our software recognises that they are all the same, will just put one in and search for other original material on the same story”
